Clearing the legislative hurdle to Chief Minister YS Jagan Mohan Reddy's plan to have three capitals for Andhra Pradesh, Governor[1] recently gave his assent to the AP Decentralisation and Inclusive Development of All Regions Bill, 2020, and the AP Capital Region Development Authority (Repeal) Bill, 2020.

The state law department promptly issued gazette notifications giving effect to the new acts but the government will have to clear legal hurdles before it could finally make its three capitals plan a reality. The issue is now pending before the AP High Court. The two bills were passed only by the Legislative Assembly twice, first on January 20 and next on June 16 and were not cleared by the Legislative Council, where the opposition TDP is in a majority. The Council Chairman, using his discretionary powers, referred the two Bills to Select Committees for wider examinations but the Committees itself were not constituted all these months.

But the government sent the Bills to the Governor for his assent under Article[2] of the Constitution and, after wide-ranging legal consultations, he gave his assent to the new legislation, highly-placed official sources said. "The Governor took into consideration a host of issues, including the objections raised by the opposition parties, against the legislation. He has clearly expressed his views point-by-point to all the issues while giving his assent to the two Bills," the sources added. The Jagan Mohan Reddy government brought in the AP Decentralisation and Inclusive Development of All Regions Bill, 2020, to give shape to its plan of having three capitals for the state, with the executive capital in.....[3], Legislative capital in.....[4] and judicial capital in [5]. The other legislation is intended to repeal the AP Capital Region Development Authority Act, 2014. The CRDA Act was enacted on December 22, 2014 for the development of the state capital post-bifurcation with a specific area demarcated as the capital region.

Sri Lanka's strongman.....[1] staged a political comeback as his party registered a landslide victory in the twice-postponed general elections, according to the final results released by the elections commission. The official results declared showed that the Sri Lanka People's Party (SLPP) alone had won 145 seats and with its allies have 150 seats, a two thirds majority in the 225-member parliament. Prime Minister Narendra Modi was among the first world leaders to congratulate him on the outcome of the elections and said the two sides will work together to further advance all areas of bilateral cooperation and to take their special ties to ever newer heights. President.....[2], who won the November presidential election on the SLPP ticket, had called a snap election six months ahead of the schedule. In the parliamentary election, he was seekin [3] mandatory to execute constitutional changes in the main to repeal the 19th amendment to the Constitution which had curbed presidential powers while strengthening the role of parliament. The biggest casualty from the result was the United National Party (UNP) of former prime minister Ranil Wickremesinghe. The UNP managed to win only one seat and that too came thanks to the cumulative votes polled nationally. The country's grandest political party failed to win a single seat from any of the 22 districts. Wickremesinghe's former deputy and the presidential candidate Sajith Premadasa, who had broken away from the UNP to form his own party SJB, has done well by winning 55 seats with its main Muslim party ally bagging it the solitary district win in the eastern port district of Trincomalee. The SJB polled 2.7 million or 23 per cent and has emerged the second largest party., according to the results. President.....[2] on March 2 dissolved parliament, six months ahead of the schedule, and called for snap polls on April 25. However, the election commission in mid-April postponed the elections by nearly two months to June 20 due to the coronavirus outbreak in the island nation. There are over 16 million eligible voters in the country. The August 5 poll will elect a 225-member parliament for a five-year term.

ii. This will be followed by mass production in other countries in collaboration with local financing institutions. Russia has not published a detailed study of the results of its trials to establish the efficacy of the products it says it has developed.

Last week the WHO was sceptical when Russia said its vaccine was almost ready, saying it had seen "nothing official", and that pharmaceutical products must "undergo all the different trials and tests before being licensed for deployment". Professor Alexander Gintsburg, head of the Gamaleya institute that developed the vaccine, raised eyebrows in May when he said that he and other researchers tried the vaccine on themselves. Human studies started on June 17 among 76 volunteers. Half were injected with a vaccine in liquid form and the other half with a vaccine that came as soluble powder. Some in the first half were recruited from the military, which raised concerns that servicemen may have been pressured to participate. Amid Russia's rush to become the first to create a vaccine, the US, Britain and Canada last month accused Russia of using hackers to steal vaccine research from Western labs. Despite not completing Phase 3 trials, President[2] insisted the vaccine has undergone the necessary tests.

19. He had 60% pneumonia,” said Dr Vinod Bhandari of Sri Aurobindo Hospital. His Twitter bio describes him as “Indian Poet, Painter, Bollywood Lyricist”. Before he checked himself into the hospital for treatment, the poet had tweeted about being coronavirus positive, asking people to pray for his quick recovery. He further asked people to not call up either him or his home to enquire about his health. He had said they will be getting updates through Twitter. With a 50-year career in poetry, He is an Urdu scholar of great repute, was one of the biggest mushaira (poetry symposiums) stars in the country and someone who fearlessly called a spade a spade. Among the poet’s most powerful lines are “Sabhi ka khoon hai shamil yahan ki mitti mein; Kisi ke baap ka Hindustan thodi hai (Everybody’s blood mingles in the soil; Hindustan does not belong solely to one)”. The lines were used on posters and banners during the anti-CAA protests, pushing him to almost cult status. Earlier this year, his poem “Bulati hai magar jane ka nahi” went viral on social media, making him a sensation among the youth. Memes using the poem’s opening lines flooded social media during Valentine’s Day. Historian and author Rana Safvi termed the poet’s death a “huge huge loss to a fearless voice and to the world of poetry”. In fellow poet Gulzar’s view, He was the soul of a mushaira. “Mushaira loot ke le gaye is a saying in Urdu. Lyricist-writer Javed Akhtar called his ‘s death “an irreparable loss” to contemporary Urdu poetry and society at large. “Like Habib Jalib, he was from the fast disappearing tribe of poets who are never short of courage to call a spade a spade,” Akhtar said. Lyricist Varun Grover called him a “rockstar of the Indian literary world” and prince of the “mushaira” tradition. He wrote the lyrics of several songs, including “Chori Chori Jab Nazrein Mili” from Kareeb, “Koi jaye to le aye” from Ghatak , and “Neend Churai Meri” from Ishq.
